FLOWER SEED FREE.

Senator Ollie M. James has recently sent the Central Record a supply of flower seed which will be given the readers of the Record upon application. Come at once they are free.

LOSE HOME BY FIRE.

Friends and relatives in this county will be sorry to learn that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Eason, who live near Bardonia, in Mercer county, was destroyed by fire last Saturday evening. The loss will probably reach near $2,000, with no insurance.

"TREY OF HEARTS."

Owing to the popularity of this picture the Rex management will be unable to secure it until Feb. 25. Instead of it being shown on Saturday night it will be shown Thursday night, as quite a number of the business people have asked that this change be made in order that they may see it. Saturday night being their busy night.

CAN YOU SAY IT?

Once there was a boy who went to a circus and watching his chance, managed to crawl under the tent. After the show was over he went about saying it was no good. Every time we hear anyone say their home paper is no account nine times out of ten we find that they are not on the list of paying subscribers, or else owe for several years subscription and then we think of the boy who crawled under the circus tent.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY ORDER

There is a counterfeit money order in circulation, that it will take an expert to tell from the real article, so be very careful or you might have one "slipped" on you.

MISS HIGGINS ABSENT.

The people of Cincinnati have made plans to extend an extremely cordial welcome to those attending the Department of Superintendence in that city next week, beginning Feb. 22nd and continuing for six days. Miss Jennie Higgins, our county superintendent will attend this meeting and will be absent from her office all of next week.

NEW FIRM.

Mr. M. C. Turner, whose advertisement appears in this issue of the Record, has just opened up a new stock of groceries and general merchandise, in the store room recently vacated by Mr. White Marsee. Mr. Turner solicits the patronage of his friends and says he will give the highest market price for country produce. Read his announcement.

TAKE OFF YOUR HAT "KEG."

Hon. W. B. Mason, better known as "Keg", was over from Lancaster yesterday, and said he had announced as a candidate for re-election as circuit clerk of Garrard county. Mr. Mason has been in the clerk's office since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, and is considered the best clerk in Kentucky. Danville Messenger.

SELLS FAMOUS JACK.

Mr. Mark Goin, of Marksbury, sold his famous jack "Reid" to Dr. J. L. Hearn, of Texarkana, Tex., last Tuesday for $600. This is considered one of the best jacks in the county and it seems unfortunate for the breeders of mules that a good jack like this should leave the state. He was shipped by express yesterday.

OLLIE JAMES HAS GROWN.

The White House baby is a fine healthy child, but did not overburden the stork that brought him. His grandfather, worried over the lack of avoirdupois, consulted an old family friend, Dr. Blythe.

"He seems well and strong," said the president, "but he weighs only six and a half pounds."

"I wouldn't worry about that, Mr. President," was the reply. "Look at Ollie James. He weighed only four pounds when he was born."

FIRE MARSHALL HERE.

Mr. Edward M. White, assistant state fire marshal, was in the city last Friday inspecting the water works system of the city and found the pressure all that it should be and pronounced the entire system good. Mr. White also inspected the school and found there that adequate protection had been provided for the children to escape in case of fire and was very complimentary of the building as a whole. He inspected the two picture show houses and found no complaint to lodge against either of them.

COURT DAY IN DANVILLE.

"Little Britain" where the great white way gleams, and where many things occur that cannot be published in its two good papers, was the scene of a lively court day Monday. Quite a good deal of stock changed hands at fairly good prices. A representative of the Record was shown thru the "Shop Perfect" which will be the pride of Danvillians when it opens its doors this week. It is up-to-date in every detail, being built with an eye to sanitary conditions. It is an honor to the town and the promoters should receive liberal patronage.

PROF. MARTIN IN TOWN.

The field work of the Eastern State Normal, of Richmond Ky., is well represented by Prof. Wm. Martin, who was in the city yesterday, preparatory to making a few addresses before the different schools of the county this week. Prof. Martin is a learned and entertaining speaker and a treat is in store for those who may be fortunate enough to hear him. He addressed the school Wednesday night on "Modern Child Life". To-night (Thursday) he will speak at Bryantsville on "The Child and The Plant". Saturday night he will speak at the Paint Lick school on "The Splendor of the Human Body."

LOOKS LIKE A FRAME-UP.

Quite a sensation was sprung in the Zelma Young murder mystery at Danville Tuesday, when John Walker, the chief witness declared that the whole affair was a "frame-up" on John Price another negro charged with the crime. Walker now says that detective Morris agreed to give him $50, a new suit of clothes and a job in the detective service for life, if he would make certain statements on the witness stand. Walker now says he never saw Price before and burdened with the thought of swearing an innocent life away, he could no longer refrain from telling the facts. Opinion is still divided as to which statement of Walker's is correct.

LOSES FINGER.

William, the bright little 8 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, had the misfortune to cut off his finger while cutting corn for the chickens with a hatcher knife. The finger was amputated and he is reported as getting along nicely.

DAILY MAIL TO NINA.

Beginning last week, the mail route which heretofore has been running every other day to Nina, has been made a daily route now, very much to the satisfaction of those good people in that locality.

It makes a pretty hard drive for "Whistler" who is always accommodating and gives the best there is in him to see that the patrons of his route are given efficient service.

CATTLE SALES.

Mr. J. E. Robinson sold twenty-one head of 1100 pound cattle to C. C. Seal, of Cincinnati, for 7 1/2 cents a pound and same party bought of Hughes Bros., 23 head of 900 pound cattle at 6 1/2 cents.

Mr. E. C. McWhorter, of Paint Lick sold a nice bunch of 100 fed cattle to Simon Weil, of Lexington, for $7.35 to be delivered as soon as quarantine is lifted. These cattle will weigh about 1300 pounds.

WILL PREACH AT METHODIST CHURCH.

Dr. J. L. Clark, President of K. W. C. of Winchester, will fill the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning and night. Bro. Pollitt is holding a meeting at Jackson, Ky.

GOOD MORNING, HAVE YOU BEEN VACCINATED?

The school children who had not been vaccinated were sent home from school Monday morning. This course is taken as a precaution and may be the means of not having to close the school entirely.

GARRARD COUNTY TOBACCO Still Leads and Brings Big Price On Danville Market.

That Garrard County has raised the best tobacco in the state was again demonstrated on the Danville market last Monday, when the crop of Tom Broadbush brought an average of $19.45 from the ground up. This crop consisted of 3985 pounds and brought a total of $7749.45. Mr. A. W. King, one of the clearest men that ever winked an eye at an auctioneer, as well as the most liberal buyer on the Danville market, bought most of the Broadbush crop, the highest basket, containing 335 pounds was knocked off to this clever gentleman at 40 cents a pound. Mr. King represents the well known firm of Liggett and Myers.

GIFTED IN THE ART OF BURYING TOMAHAWKS.

The Republicans have just held a banquet in Louisville the purpose of which is to bring about a reconciliation or reuniting of factions. When exigencies of the occasion require it, or the prospective distribution of pie invites it, the Republicans can bury their differences, and get together quicker than any party organized since the establishment of governments.

The Democrats would do well to emulate the example of their ancient enemy in the art of burying tomahawks, smoking pipes of peace and reconciling differences. Lions and lambs lie down together, the Bull Moose and the Elephant graze in the same field provided there is enough field to go around.

E. W. LILLARD COMMITS SUICIDE TAKES LIFE BY SHOOTING AT HIS HOME IN DANVILLE.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 17.—Col. E. W. Lillard was found dead in his room at his home on South Second street about 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was alone in the room and a pistol was found by his side. The supposition is that he took his own life.

He and his wife have been spending some time in Mercer county. Mrs. Lillard was in Mercer county when the tragedy occurred. Mr. Lillard drove to Danville today to spend a short time and went to his room at his home. A man who came with him waited a long while when he went for him this afternoon. Deciding to go to his room his dead body was found.

Mr. Lillard was seen upon the streets today and it was noticed that he appeared to be very despondent.

He was about fifty years of age and is survived by his wife and three children. The family have the deepest sympathy of this community in their dark hour of sorrow.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Lancaster People.

One kidney remedy has known merit. Lancaster people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Lancaster testimony proves it reliable. Mrs. B. F. Walter, Hill St., Lancaster, Ky., says: "I never fail to praise Doan's Kidney Pills when I have the opportunity, as they are certainly a fine remedy. I have not been without a supply in the house for years. Whenever my back becomes lame and painful, a few doses bring me instant relief. At one time I feared that I had serious kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and gave unmistakable evidence of disordered kidneys. It was my good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them. In a short time my kidneys were normal."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Walter had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MI-O-NA QUICKLY

ENDS INDIGESTION

Eat Your Favorite Food and Never Fear After-Distress.

There is a way for you to eat whatever your stomach craves. Many will say "How I wish I could but I have tried and every time it nearly kills me."

The real trouble is that people who suffer the untold agony of indigestion do not realize that the stomach has a lot of work to perform in digesting the food and if crowded with extra labor it rebels and kicks up a fearful disturbance.

MI-O-NA, a simple and inexpensive prescription, easily obtained from R. E. McRoberts or any drug store, will quickly and effectively stop this disturbance or money refunded. It not only increases the flow of digestive juices, but surely and safely builds up and strengthens the stomach walls so that what you eat is cared for as nature intended.

It's needless for you to suffer with indigestion, heartburn, biliousness, sour, gassy or upset stomach, for MI-O-NA, tablets surely give prompt and lasting relief and perfectly harmless.

JAMES D. BLACK IS CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNORSHIP

James D. Black, of Harboursville, Knox County, has issued the following statement announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor in the Primary Election, August 7, 1915.

Democrats of Kentucky: Recognizing, in the fullest sense, your right to choose at the Primary Election to be held in August, 1915, those whom you prefer to be the candidates of the party to be voted for at the general election in next November, I am a candidate, subject to your will to be expressed at said Primary Election, for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket. I am induced, in a measure, to make this announcement by a desire of my own to serve the people of our splendid State in the capacity of Lieutenant Governor, and also, in a measure, by suggestions of a few individuals whose personal and political friendship is real and in whose judgment I have and ought to have confidence. My past fealty to the Democratic party may be accepted by you, I confidently trust, as a sufficient guaranty that I shall, whether nominated or not, give to the ticket you may name and the principles for which our party stands, very faithful support, for that course has been my habit at all times since reaching legal age. If nominated and elected Lieutenant Governor, I promise you and the people of Kentucky to bring to the discharge of the duties of the office the very best service of which I may be capable. Whether or not I am equipped to properly discharge those duties, it is not for me to say. I submit that to your judgment and decision. I believe in a just and wise economy in public as well as in private business, and cordially agree that no one should be entrusted with responsible office who is not able and willing to perform his whole duty to the public whose interests he asks to be commissioned to serve. I believe those on whom the Constitution places the duty and responsibility of legislation for the people of the State ought to industriously employ the time the General Assembly may be in session, to needed legislation, complete that as quickly as a proper regard for the best interests of the State will permit, and then adjourn, diligently avoiding every unnecessary expense to the people. I have no doubt that those who have to do in an official way with the money of the community, or charged with the administration of public affairs, ought to act in relation to such, according to that high standard which the most prudent, careful, just and intelligent exercise in the conduct of their private business. If elected Lieutenant Governor, that standard shall be my guide in the labor the law assigns to me. In submitting my candidacy, I invite the scrutiny of the people of Kentucky as to my fitness for the preferment thus sought. Very respectfully,

JAMES D. BLACK.

MEN live in deeds. For good or ill
Their acts survive, and not until Time is no more can it be said,
"The man is dead."

LIVED one who Freedom's standard raised—Lived, fought and passed; was blamed and praised;
Was crowned a hero in his day,
Then passed away.

A PEOPLE from oppression
freed,
By him torn from a tyrant's greed,
Became a nation; lived and thrived
Because he strived.

THE heart that for his people's woes Found courage to oppose their foes
Still pulsates in the nation's breast—
His grand behest.

GREAT Washington! Each passing year
But makes thy memory more dear;
Each year but adds unto thy fame,
Exalts thy name.

YOUR deeds live on, and in them you.
Your hand still guides. A purpose true
The nation's heart inspires. Lead on,
Brave Washington!

WASHINGTON UNDER CARPET.

Owner Had to Hide Portrait to Save it
From Soldiers.

One of the best Washington portraits in existence, the Pruyn portrait, is totally unknown to the great majority of the American public, since no reproduction of it has ever been made, but it was exhibited in New York for a short time in the Van Cortlandt mansion.

The Pruyn portrait presents the Washington familiar to us in the many Gilbert Stuart portraits, but it is perhaps one of the very best that ever came from that artist's brush. It shows a General Washington full of life and vigor, with a ruddy coloring and a very ruddy nose. It belongs to Mrs. William Gorham Rice of Albany, N. Y., who is a member of the Pruyn family.

This portrait is Washington's family portrait of himself and hangs on the walls of Mount Vernon during his residence there. At his death it fell to the share of one of his four nephews, George Steptoe Washington.

This Mr. Washington lived near Falmouth, on the north side of the Rappahannock, and the portrait occupied a prominent place on his walls until the civil war. Then his homestead was suddenly filled with Union troops. To save the portrait its owner hastily ripped it from the frame and placed it underneath the carpet in one of the bedrooms. As luck would have it, General Hancock chose to occupy that room during his stay in Falmouth and tramped unwittingly back and forth over the Father of His Country. But the portrait was well protected by the carpet and is in fine condition.

After the war was over it was hard to find for the Steptoe Washingtons, and they sold the portrait with other belongings. The purchaser of the picture was John V. L. Pruyn of Albany, N. Y.

THE STORY OF A GRAND- FATHER'S CLOCK.

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind, Should auld acquaintance be forgot and days of lang syne?"

If from the dim and shadowy past a hand should reach out in supplication, a voice should whisper tenderly-pleadingly, would you—ah, would you turn, or would you lovingly, gently, link your arm in his and together pass down the corridors of time?

To day there has come to us from out the time that is hoary with traditions of chivalry and that courage born of the gods, throbbing, pulsating with the joy of being, with youth renewed, and firmly planted on the threshold of a new era—Grandfather's Clock. Relentless time in its swift march has left no withering marks, nor bent his tall and stately form, for are you not, dear relic of an honored past time itself, and do you not go on
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

He tells the story of the old colonial mansion with its powder puffed dames and their silk stockinged beaux gaily tripping the minuet to the time measured off by the happy fiddler and Grandfather's Clock with his note of warning and admonition and yet of mirth and cheer as he calls out
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

When the elder son brought home his beautiful blushing bride the old hall with its outstretched arms first received them and the cheery "Tick-tock" of Grandfather's Clock spoke its note of welcome as there they were to live
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

And when the sturdy youngsters came on, one by one, they grew to know his friendly face and they fell asleep in "by-low, land" to the drowsy tune of his old time voice, and in youths bright morning his was a clarion call to duty. But not alone did he know peace and love. When grim war stalked like a demon over our fair land seeking whom it might devour, and ruthless enemies with brass buttons, swords, and bayonets entered unbidden the old mansion and all before them fled in fear and consternation, alone did Grandfather's Clock, straight and gaunt, stand like a sentinel on guard and to the command of surrender hurl back in tones defiant
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

The old master, broken in spirit, bereft of friends and loved ones, sits by the dying embers of his fireside but not alone. Out of the deep silence of the night the friendly voice summons back in dreams the companion of his better days and "With a cherry smile and a wave of the hand
He wanders into the unknown land" while from out the shadows, like a requiem over his departed dust, is heard again
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

Oh Grandfather's Clock—what a tragedies—what joy and sorrow—what weal and woe your silent face has witnessed! And we wonder as you proudly stand in your new and satiny garment do you care to take up life again, will you be as true to us as you were to them, will you as zealously guard our secrets as you do theirs? And he answers back
"Forever—never,
Never—forever."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By R. O. McLELLAN, Acting Director of Sunday School Course Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 21

THE DEATH OF ELI AND HIS SONS.

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 4:1-12, 13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, dividing your own selves.—James 1:22 R. V.

The Philistines in the days of Eli overran Israel pretty much at will.
All Israel, God's people, soon knew that God was speaking through this new prophet.

I. No Help at Ebenezer, vv. 1, 2. Ebenezer was that place where Samuel later set up the stones of commemoration (1 Samuel 7:12). Here the aggressive Philistines overcame and put to rout the Israelites. Israel had slained and needed correction (chapter 7:2; Ps. 106:40, 41). When God's people neglect him they weaken themselves and easily become the prey of their enemies. Full often the church of today stands defeated and disgraced, nay even turns its back to the enemy, because it harbors sin and sinners in its ranks (Josh. 7:12).

II. Seeking Help, vv. 3-9. If Israel really desired to know the cause of their discomfiture they did not need to go far to seek it. The trouble was that they were not willing to see and own it (1 Cor. 11:32). The reasoning upon the part of these elders seems to be, "Why have we, Israelites, been smitten by these Philistines who are not God's chosen people?" It was absurd and unjust for them to have to suffer. We hear this same sort of reasoning today, whereas God would have us probe deeper and search our hearts, for if we regard iniquity in our hearts the Lord will not hear us.

At Shiloh, Eli is caring for the ark, and with the fatalism and superstition that will govern the ungodly, Israel sends for it "that it may save us"
(v. 3). The ark contained the tables of the law and was the symbol of the presence of God (Ex. 25:10-22). Their trust was in the ark and not in the God of the ark. Such is ever the danger of formalism in religion. To carry the ark about Jericho trusting in Jehovah, was quite different from harboring the sons of Eli, yet thinking that God could not let the ark be captured. The churches of our land are the saving salt, but "if the salt hath lost its savour," if Hophni and Phinehas bear the ark, nothing but defeat and disgrace can be expected, though the enemy may tremble (v. 8).

The Philistines were strong enough to smite because of the weakness of Israel. They recognized the shouts and remembered the mighty deeds of Jehovah, which exploits would have been repeated had Israel truly turned to God. There was good reason for the Philistines to fear. But God was not on the side of Israel at that time.

The Philistines began to exhort themselves. Their call (v. 9) was a good one and was used later by Paul (1 Cor.
16:13). For them not to do anything was to be captured by their former slaves. If they fought, they could but die.

III. The Lost Battle, vv. 10-11. God would not succor his chosen people, nor defend the symbols of religion when the spirit and heart of that religion had departed (Ps. 78:55-64).
The two reprobate sons of Eli were slain as a punishment for their sins and in fulfillment of the word of God (chapter 2:12; 3:13, 14). Their punishment came in connection with the same holy service they had defiled.

IV. The Death of Eli, vv. 12-18. The aged Eli, now ninety-eight years old, was anxiously awaiting news of the battle, "for his heart trembled for the ark of God." This anxiety was quite unnecessary (v. 13). God can take care of his ark. Eli had reason, however, to tremble for Israel and his wicked sons. He is an illustration of those indulgent parents who refuse to use discipline in the care of their children.

The ark did not return to Shiloh.
After its various vicissitudes it found an abiding place in the house of Ahiadah, whose son Eleazar was sanctified to take charge of it. Later it was taken to Jerusalem, and in the meantime Shiloh passed into oblivion.

The Golden Text. That we learn to do by doing is a fundamental principle in pedagogy. Mere human words do not change character. Youth does not acquire purity of character by listening to beautiful statements about the virtues. Religion is not a last resource. It must be practiced in youth if it is to give strength, courage and comfort in old age. It is not a matter of creed and formula but a life; it is not a convenience but a course of action that governs all of life.

It is not the turning in life's testing times, to those forms from which all life has departed.

Parents today seem to be lax in discipline. Too often it is the child that brings up the parent. We need to accustom the child to virtue and obedience, to teach him truth while at the knee, that when "he is old he may not depart" therefrom. While some children of good parents go astray yet this is not the rule. A true Christian atmosphere and spirit of service in the home, the Sunday school and the church are the greatest possible safeguards for the young.

Under the present law in Kentucky, the man who sells his vote is liable to severe punishment while he who buys it runs no risk, says the Shelby Record.

Down in Pike county, during the Senatorial primary, quite a number sold their votes and over eleven hundred were indicted for so doing. Not a few have already been convicted, and nearly all of them voted for Beckham at from three dollars to five dollars a vote. When the vote was counted in Pike county, there were 900 for Beckham, 850 for McCreary, and not a vote for Stanley. Isn't it wonderful?

Why isn't he who buys a vote as bad as he who sells? Six years ago, when Beckham and McCreary were opposing candidates for the Senatorial nomination, A. Apple, P. Peach, C. Corn, T. Tree, and a whole lot more like them voted for one of the candidates, and he was nominated. Who was his campaign manager then, as well as at the primary last August, when so many votes were bought in Pike county? Wasn't it the same man that Owsley Stanley says is at the head of a political triumvirate, and a pampered, protected lobby, and is the "high muck a muck" of the invisible government at Frankfort?

Percy Haley is not a candidate for an office in the visible government, but the methods he has employed in the past, with results that were pleasing to him and those whose cause he espoused, are responsible for a condition that may be discussed and criticized by every good citizen. He is not an officeholder, but he is a public character. Everybody in Kentucky either knows him, or knows of him. As an organizer and worker for his friends, he is a wonder. As an astute politician he can't be beat. They must all take off their hats to him but when apples and pears, peachs, fences, trees, etc., are voted for, and three and five dollars each are paid for votes for, the man whose campaign he is managing, is it anything but right that the responsibility for such things be attributed to him?

Mr. Stanley has told these things and he knows that he is the last man in the State that Haley would have anything to do with, and why? Because Stanley went very near beating his man for Senator. In doing this he antagonized some of the newspapers who were for Mr. Beckum, and they have rushed frantically to Haley's defense, not stopping to consider whether or not the charges that Stanley made are true or false.

If there is an invisible government at Frankfort; if there are lobbyists and covert and cunning emissaries of every favor-seeking and tax-dodging interest at the State Capital, as Stanley says there are; if it is possible to vote all kinds of vegetation and buy votes indiscriminately, isn't it time that the people of Kentucky had the calcium light thrown upon such things and upon those who are responsible for them? Think of this. Nobody knows yet who Haley is for Governor, but everybody knows he is "agin" Stanley. Isn't it high time that the people themselves, have a voice in the selection of the officials, and he permitted to cast their votes as they please, and have their votes counted as cast, without the intervention of an invisible government?

The announcement of the Hon. James D. Black, of Harrodsburg, Ky., appears in this issue of the Record as a candidate of the office of Lieutenant Governor subject to the wishes of the Democratic party expressed at the August primary.

Mr. Black is a democrat of well recognized ability, being one of the best known lawyers of Southeastern Ky. For years past he has fought the Democratic battles in the eleventh district, and has received little recognition from the party for the valuable services rendered. This gentleman has always been a loyal democrat and is in every way suited and qualified for the honorable position he seeks and we believe his candidacy will be well received by the democrats of the state.

The most popular "movie" ever shown on a screen, is the "Trey Of Hearts" at the Rex Theater next Thursday night.

TOBACCO GROWERS MEETING

A meeting of the tobacco growers of Garrard county will have a meeting at the Court House in Lancaster next Monday at 2 P. M. for the purpose of forming an organization, to see if some means can be devised looking toward a better price for tobacco.

The temporary executive committee of the growers association have fixed a form of pledge which the tobacco growers of the forty counties of the Burley belt will be asked to sign.

The pledge is as follows:
"We, the tobacco growers and residents of . . . county, hereto affix our names for the purpose of becoming members of the Tobacco Growers' association now being organized for the purpose of securing and maintaining a living price for our tobacco, and pledge our assistance and influence in organizing said association, and hereby agree to abide by the charter and by-laws of said association, which are now or are to be adopted by our representatives to the district meeting at Lexington, March 2, 1915."

CALVARY HORSES

Bring Satisfactory Prices.

Mr. H. E. McCleary of York, Pa., who was here last week, buying calvary horses for the Allied Armies, has succeeded in finishing out a load and will ship them to Richmond Va. Saturday for final inspection. The horses were bought of different parties in this and surrounding counties at an average of about $125 a head.

Mr. W. B. Burton has made some recent purchases of horses and mules, of various parties. One horse of Jim Clark for $132.50, two nice ones of Lebanon parties for $145 each, a mule of Tom Slavin, for $110, two pair of mules of Lebanon parties, for $125 and $50, four mules of Gentry and Thompson, of Lexington, at an average of $130 around and one pair of Tom Duck, worth for $350.

STATE AID.

For Garrard County Roads.

At a recent meeting of the fiscal court, the entire court sitting, it was unanimously voted that this county ask for an appropriation of $10,000, from the state road fund, the amount to be doubled by the county, making a total of $20,000, that will be used on the roads in the county this year. The work will be under the supervision of the state and it is said will be applied to the Lancaster and Stanford road from the Lincoln county line to the city and then the Lexington pike to the Mercer county line. About fifty counties in the state have already asked for State aid and our fiscal court, believing in good roads and the great advantages offered by the State aid road law, may now expect Garrard to have some of the banner roads of the state.

Every progressive citizen of the county will give their hearty endorsement of this movement, which will mean so much to the county.

HAD NOT WALKED

WITHOUT CANE

For Twelve Months, Well Known Southern

Woman Used Andes Oil One Week.

Walks Without Aid.

Thousands continue to see and hear Dr. Andes who has taken the whole southland as by storm. His health talks are commented on by every paper of prominence, and hundreds flock to the drug store in their eagerness to purchase his medicines. In a long line that was waiting to see him recently in Birmingham, Ala., was Mrs. Frances Smith, of 2407 Third Ave. She says I want to tell every one what this man's medicine has done for me. I had inflammatory rheumatism, and had not walked a step without my cane and crutch for twelve months. As I am 65 years of age, I felt as if I would be a cripple the balance of my days, but some how my folks never gave up, I let them try many different things on me. Finally, last week, they bought one bottle of Andes oil, and they began to rub me, and from the first application it done me good. I walked all the way from my home down here without my cane and crutch and I don't need them either, look what good use I have of myself. Here Mrs. Smith walked out of the long line of people showing what she said was facts. When she was able to see Dr. Andes, she said, "I have come to purchase some of your Great Prescription as your liniment has done so much for me in such a short time. I understand that a person must take something to remove the uric acid from the blood and I believe Andes will do it in shorter time that anything else."

The medicines referred to above that accomplished so much for this woman will do the same for any sufferer from rheumatism, lumbago, weak backs; also, stiff and drawn joints. The McRoberts Drug Store sells all of Andes medicines.

LANCASTER BOY MAKING

GOOD AT CENTRE COLLEGE.

LEGE.

Danville Feb. 10, 1915.

At the weekly meeting of the Chamberlain Literary Society Mr. William B. Mason of Lancaster, Ky., was one of the candidates presented for membership. It will be remembered that the work of the literary societies is one of the features of college life. It is the custom for few members to make a speech upon their gaining admission to the society. This requirement was met by Mr. Mason in a promising style. Mr. Mason's (Billy's) speech was rendered very gracefully and veterans says his first attempt is second to that of no other former candidate.

On the whole Billy has made an enviable record at Centre this past semester. His scholarship and deportment have met the favor of all faculty men with whom he was associated. He was a strong contestant for the position of varsity end at foot-ball and is one of next years hopes for a winning team. It is rumored that Billy and Prof. Sammy Check are "regular buddies". The friendship of Prof. Check is the stamp of approval for any undergraduate.

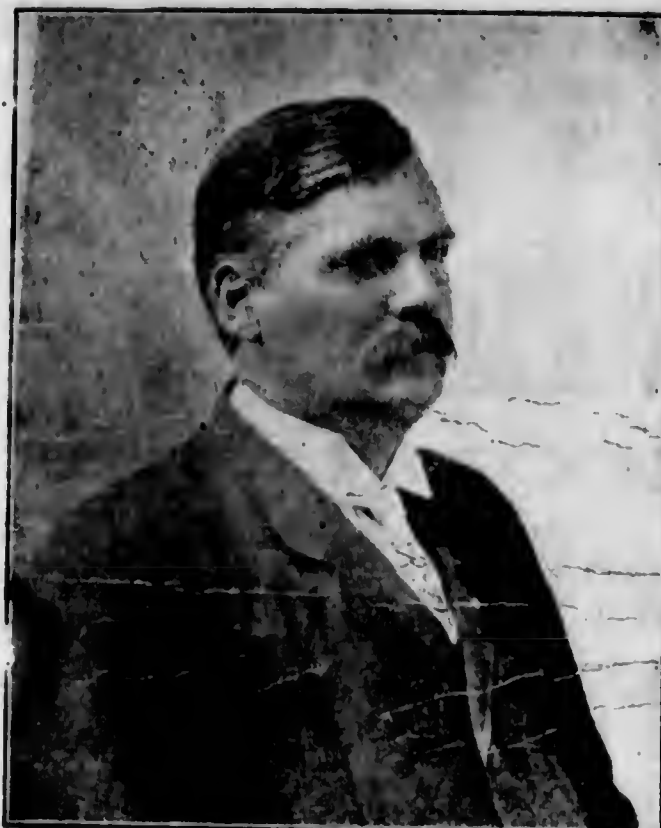

LEGISLATIVE RACE IN GARRARD.

The legislative race has opened in Garrard county with Clay Kauffman as an aspirant of the Democratic nomination for Representative, and it is expected that he will have to contend with Representative J. R. Mount who held down the Garrard seat in the last General Assembly. Then, too, there is John M. Farra, who served in the 1912 session, and has always been suspected of hankering to go back to Frankfort for another winter. Farra made a splendid Representative when he was in the House and his friends think that a second term would give him much prominence and make him a valuable member of the next General Assembly. —Nicholasville Journal.

THE LAW WITH THE BARK ON IT.

So much talk has been created in the last few days because of the fact the county Board of Health has issued a proclamation, that all school children be vaccinated, we reprint from the Rules and Regulations of the State Board of Health, which is the law with the bark on it. We quote from Rule 35: "No person shall become a member of any public school within the jurisdiction of this board, as teacher or scholar, without furnishing a certificate of some reputable physician, that he or she has been successfully vaccinated and has been re-vaccinated at least each seven years. Penalty for violation of this rule or regulation by any person who shall refuse or fail after written notice from the local board, shall be fined not less than $10, nor more than $100, for each day he or she so fails or neglects to report any contagious disease to the board within twenty-four hours after it becomes known, either by the physician in charge or the head of the family, shall be liable to a fine of $5 to $10 for each day, for such refusal or neglect."

A SURE WINNER.

JUDGE CHARLES A. HARDIN.

The following high compliment paid Garrard's Circuit Judge by the Louisville Post, will be read with interest by his friends:

Judge Charles A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, Mercer county, has determined to make the race for re-nomination for Circuit Judge of the judicial district that embraces the counties of Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer. According to reports reaching Louisville through the most trustworthy sources, Judge Hardin's chances for victory are very bright.

It is the contention of his ardent friends and admirers who are booming his candidacy that he is entitled to endorsement as a reward for his splendid services to his constituency since he donned the judicial ermine.

Those who are intimately acquainted with this typical scion of Mercer county unhesitatingly say his district owes him re-election for the superior service he has rendered it since he assumed his present onerous duties. Being a lawyer of the first constellation explains why this mentally brilliant gentleman and scholar dispenses justice and expounds the most complicated points that arise in litigation without seeming effort.

Ever since he attained his majority Judge Hardin has been delving into the mysteries of law, consequently he is conversant with its every angle. To him the ethics of his profession is an old acquaintance. Before he got in the spotlight of fame and public usefulness his father won lasting fame through his transcendent ability to solve the most perplexing legal questions with ease and grace.

Like his distinguished father, who has been gathered to his reward, Judge Charles A. Hardin is an omnivorous reader who is possessed of an analytical and retentive mind which enables him to preside over cases in his courts with a degree of self-poise and dignity that arouse the admiration of barristers throughout the country, and litigants are always satisfied when he is on the bench. Judge Hardin's intense love of justice eminently qualifies him to fill the position he holds and aspires to fill another term.

According to politicians in his section of the Bluegrass Commonwealth, Judge Hardin is rapidly gaining strength in his race for re-nomination. His gracious way of conducting court and desire to see that men occupying humble stations in life are accorded the same degree of justice that those of high estate get, has endeared him to all classes.

When Judge Hardin's official duties permit he devotes a large part of his time to church affairs. Morally he is as clean as a coin directly from the mint.

PIE.

The editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer must have had a pie given him, as he discourses for a column and a half on them, and while we agree with him in most things we must beg leave to differ in some, he says:

"The best pie, however—and those who have tasted it will tell you so—is born, bred and made in Southern Ohio. To enter upon the question of which kind is best is to open Pandora's box."

How are they made? Search us. In boyhood's days the spirit of imitation and emulation was rife. No circus came but we turned hand-springs for months afterward. In years to follow we envied only the one-legged eel dancer and the couple that played the xylophone. But the making of pies belonged to the woman folks. For us to eat was enough. Only in those days we never got enough! . . .

And huckleberry pie—that's the kind to be eaten in your shirt-sleeves, at the edge of the back porch, where the juice can run down to your elbow and drip upon the hollyhocks below."

We know the best pie in the world is the Garrard product and we could prove it by handing him one of Mrs. Miller's pies and showing him in THESE days he couldn't get enough if she made them. Don't talk to us about the kind you have to eat on the back porch, in your shirt sleeves with the juice running down your elbows, they may go in Ohio, but Kentucky—never.

Nothing seems to contribute more to his happiness than to mingle with a crowd that is interested in civic movements for the uplift of the community. To this man of profound research and sterling character it is an ineluctable pleasure to do something that will make his "fellows" feel that life is worth living.

He takes an active interest in Sunday school work, for which he is admirably fitted thru his vast knowledge of the Bible. Those who have known him since childhood say he is as gentle in his demeanor as a woman, but when circumstances require him to act in an opposite direction he can be as firm as adamant. It has always been his motto to treat everybody with kindness and consideration.

Judge Hardin served as County Attorney of Mercer county for two terms and was also Commonwealth's Attorney for the Thirteenth judicial district, being elected without opposition. This position he resigned to become Circuit Judge after eight years of service. His able instructions to the grand juries have been notable and have received favorable comment from the press throughout the country.

While discussing his record since being elected Circuit Judge of the Boyle, Mercer, Garrard, Lincoln judicial district, with a group of fellow-lawyers the other day in the lobby of the Jefferson County Courthouse, one of the party who has known Judge Hardin ever since boyhood, said:

"I can't convince myself that the good people of Charles Hardin's judicial district are going to refuse him another term on the bench after the splendid record he has established. Jurists of his type are absolutely essential to the voters of our State. His high-mindedness, coupled with his fine mental attainments, and knowledge of civil and criminal law, are certainly known to the people living in his district, and if that is a verity it is a certainty that he will win his race for re-nomination in impressive fashion. The son of one of our State's most learned lawyers and a lovable and Godly mother readily explains why Judge Hardin is endowed with an abundance of brain force, which he uses with rare wisdom."

"Being fond of him and familiar with his fitness for the office he again aspires, to fill pleads my excuse for hoping he will win in the forthcoming primary."

Kentuckians who have been watching Judge Hardin's phenomenal rise in the world of "strive and accomplish something" are united in wishing him unlimited success in an overwhelming victory at the August primary.

A NEW TAX LAW.

Act of Congress approved December 17th, 1911, provides that on and after March 1st, 1915, every person who produces, imports, manufactures, compounds, deals in, dispenses, sells, distributes or gives away opium or coca leaves or any compound, manufacture, salt derivative or preparation thereof, shall register with the Collector of Internal Revenue, his place of business and procure a special tax stamp, which costs 31 cents from March 1st, to June 30th 1915, and $1.00 for each yearly period after that date. The penalty for failure to comply with the law is a fine of not more than $2000 and imprisonment of not more than five years or both, in the discretion of the court.

Certain order blanks prescribed by the Department are necessary in every case where special tax stamp is issued, before the party to whom issued can make sales. Those are bound in books of two sizes, one selling at ten cents and the other at fifty cents. All remittances should be made to cover cost of special tax stamp and one of the other of these order books. Copies of the law and regulations may be had by addressing Jno. W. Hughes, Collector of Internal Revenue, for the 8th District, Danville, Ky.

BLIND HYMN WRITER DEAD.

Fanny Crosby, died at her home in Conn., last Friday in her ninety fifth year.

Eight thousand hymns of Christian worship sung in Protestant churches throughout the world, are the work of Fanny Crosby. No one since the days of Charles Wesley or Isaac Watts has made anywhere near as large a contribution to the gospel song book as did the blind writer whose death occurred today.

Fanny Crosby's name was signed so regularly as author of one hymn after another that the hymn book makers of a quarter of a century ago were forced to give her some 200 different pen names to make it appear that someone besides the famous writer had contributed. Thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—who sang her songs, which were translated into every language, did not know that it was a blind woman's inspiration which they employed to express Christian faith and hope in song.

"Saved by Grace," "Blessed Assurance," "Rescue the Perishing" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" are typical of Fanny Crosby's most popular religious verses.

FIVE THOUSAND

HEAR COOPER

Exhibited Watch Valued at $3,500

Given Him by Grateful Father.

Lexington, Feb. 18th.

It is estimated that five thousand Lexington people heard L. T. Cooper, the man who created such widespread attention in the East, nine evening recently. Cooper explained to the vast crowd his theories on health and hygiene, accompanied by a unique demonstration of his celebrated preparation Tanlac, which he is personally introducing in the larger American cities.

In connection with his visit to Kentucky, Cooper said: "I shall remain in Lexington for only a short time. However, I shall give the people of this section of the country the same benefits of my study and my medicine that I have given the multitudes of New York, where I have been busy during the past year helping the hundreds of thousands of suffering humans in that great city."

"While here I will prove to every one how easy it is to guard against the inroads of ill-health by guarding your health as carefully as you do some other features of your daily lives."

"Catastrophic affections of the head, nose, throat and stomach, as well as the kidneys, produce a stuffed-up condition of the vital organs, and nine times out of ten this trouble is responsible for most of the ill-health of our present day Americans. Faulty methods of living are back of this ail, but it is never too late to correct our faults."

"Tanlac, the wonderful medicine that I am introducing to correct this condition, I believe to be the best thing of the kind on the American market today. This fact has been proved through the great Eastern cities, as well as right here in Lexington, where hundreds of people are already realizing the surprising results from its use."

"They all testify that Tanlac has a peculiarly grateful effect, seems to go right to the desired spot, warms up the entire system, and gives great strength and development where it is most needed—correcting all of the ills and weakness which come from years of misuse of the vital and digestive organs."

Cooper then exhibited a handsomely engraved gold watch, studded with forty-seven perfectly cut diamonds, which is valued at $3,000, that was given to him as a token of appreciation by a prominent jeweler, whose son was relieved by Tanlac.

The celebrated Tanlac is sold exclusively in Lancaster by R. E. McRoberts.

Don't Buy a Wagon Until You Have Seen the Columbus

Before you decide on any wagon, examine the Columbus. Strongly built of the best possible material the Columbus wagon gives the most satisfactory service for the longest period of years. There is no secret in the notably long life of the Columbus wagon. It is the result of the methods employed in construction. There is no wood in this wagon which has not been air-dried under shelter from one to two years.

The axles and the spokes of the wheels are hickory; the boards, bolsters and sandboards are oak, and the bottom of the box is straight grained flawless pine. These are just a few examples of the care which is taken to make this wagon as reliable as possible. The result is that the Columbus wagon is unbeatable in reliability and endurance. Come in and examine it for yourself. We know you will be pleased.

George Washington's Living Representative

A hereditary representative of George Washington in the Society of the Cincinnati and in virtue of direct, incontestable descent from an older half brother and a younger full brother of the first president, William Lanier Washington of New York city is recognized as the head of the Washington family. The distinction of representing the Father of his Country to the Cincinnati, the society of descendants of officers who served in the American army in the Revolutionary war, is most interesting in itself, since it carries with it recognition by historians and genealogists as being the leading male member of the Washington family.

Mr. Washington has said, however, that there are others equally as closely related to Washington as himself and that he cannot and does not claim exclusive relationship to George Washington.

He is directly descended from Augustine Washington 2d, the eldest half brother of George Washington, who left issue. His only son, Colonel William Augustine Washington, married Jane Washington, the eldest child of Colonel John Augustine Washington, who was a full brother of George Washington. It is from this union of a nephew and niece of George Washington that William Lanier Washington is descended in the eldest male line.

The genealogical table of William Lanier Washington shows that he is the ninth in direct male descent from Colonel John Washington, the first American member of the family.

John Washington emigrated to America from England in 1657 and settled in Westmoreland county, Va. His eldest son was Lawrence Washington. The second son of the latter was Augustine Washington 1st, father of George Washington by his second marriage, with Mary Ball. By Augustine Washington 1st's first marriage he had four children, only one of whom, Colonel Augustine Washington 2d, left issue. His only son, Colonel William Augustine Washington, as stated above, married his cousin, Jane Washington, who was the daughter and eldest child of Colonel John Augustine Washington, younger full brother of George Washington. There were other children who left descendants, from whom several families in Virginia and West Virginia trace their descent to this day.

The son of Colonel William Augustine and Jane Washington was Colonel George Cortin Washington, born in 1780. He was a member of congress and Indian commissioner and was mentioned for the vice presidency of the United States. The eldest son of the latter was Colonel Lewis William Washington, born in 1812, and his eldest son was Major James Harrell Washington. William Lanier Washington is the eldest son of Major Washington.

He is married, but has no son to inherit the estate.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize Is Found

Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it. Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Gen. H. Mayr, 154 Whiting St., Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth. Why suffer from indigestion, gases on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is permanent relief here? Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

A look at our seed oats will convince you that they are the best you ever saw.
Hudson & Hughes.

At a recent gathering of a number of ladies our "good" county road became a theme of discussion. Some one present suggested that the tollgate keepers "stole the money" and the directors gave free passes to all their uncles and aunts and not withstanding all this graft, the roads then were a satisfaction to the public. She further stated, with the county getting all of the money why cant they give us better roads. Another lady said it would be easier to trade with Sears and Roebuck than to ride over such miserable roads to shop. O, if these women could vote would it give us better roads.

Rural Credits Association

IS ENDORSED BY GOV. MCGREARY

LOCAL BRANCH NOW BEING FORMED.

Governor McCreary addressed a meeting of the directors of the Kentucky Rural Credit Association which was held in Lexington a few days ago. Governor McCreary read before the directors and officers a letter from United States Senator, Henry L. Hollis, of New Hampshire, endorsing the plan. Senator Hollis was one of the two men sent to Europe by President Taft to study the system. Governor McCreary, when seen after the meeting, said:

"The rural credit system of supplying land owners and farmers with long time loans at a low rate of interest is meeting with general approval wherever introduced and I feel honored in being made president of the Kentucky Association."

"I was one of the five members appointed to represent the United States at the monetary conference held at the Hague, and made a close study of the system in operation in France, Germany and Belgium. It has worked wonders in assisting the farmers of those countries to secure loans at a moderate interest rate and on long time. There are now two bills pending in Congress giving aid and co-operation to the system."

"It has been approved by President Roosevelt, President Taft, and has been commended by President Woodrow Wilson."

MR H. E. NEWBY, representing this association, has been in Garrard County for several weeks and has met with much success among the farmers, a large number having become members. Mr Newby will be at Three Hard Words.

There are three short and simple words, the hardest to pronounce in any language (and I suspect they were no easier before the confusion of tongues), but which no man or nation that cannot utter can claim to have arrived at wisdom. Those words are, "I was wrong."—Lowell.

When Washington Was Defeated.

Washington was defeated in his first race for election to the Virginia house of burgesses by the candidate of the liquor interests. The young soldier had angered the tavern keepers and their friends by inveighing against drunkenness among the troops in his command.

"WAR A PLAGUE TO MANKIND"—WASHINGTON.

Washington said in speaking of war at the close of the Revolution, "My first wish is to see this plague to mankind banished from off the earth." Nevertheless, throughout his life he was always ready to fight for causes believed to be right.

Washington's personal bravery was one of his chief traits. Jefferson said, "He was incapable of fear, meeting personal dangers with the calmest unconcern."

Washington had many enemies, some of whom did their utmost to destroy letters and other evidences of their defeat after they discovered that the general was destined to immortal fame as the first of the patriots.

Washington's dearest friend, gained during his military service prior to the Revolution, was Dr. James Craik, who attended the future president through two serious illnesses. After the Revolutionary war Dr. Craik became the Washington family physician at Mount Vernon.

DAIRY WISDOM.

There is often a vital difference between the dairymen and the farmer who merely keeps cows, says the Farm Journal.

No matter how good the cow, the chances are ten to one that the calf from the grade sire will nowhere near equal the cow.

Keep the heifers milking as long as possible, as this is the way to develop persistent milkers.

Be sure the doors to the stables are wide and the approaches in good condition.

Don't let the cows lie on the frosty ground. When the nights are cold the place for the herd is in the stable.

There is no profit in frost bitten grass in the stomach of the cows.

Never buy a calf from a grade sire.

CHANCE TO MAKE KENTUCKY GREATEST HOG RAISING STATE

10,000 Hogs Fattened From Slops and Distillers' Dried Grains in Daviess County Alone Last Year

(By Stephen Bolles, in Bourbon Stock Journal.)

Kentucky can easily be made the greatest hog-raising State in the Union. That has been demonstrated by Daviess county farmers. Last year about 10,000 hogs were fattened in that county on distillers' slops and dried grains.

The richest agricultural States in the Union are those which lead in hog production. Iowa, with its vast field of corn; Illinois, Missouri and Indiana in the order named, have thousands of rich farmers who make their money out of hogs. They feed the raw grain to the porker and sell him at the highest price in the biggest markets of the country. They have no such advantages as the Kentucky farmer has. At our very doors, and at a much lower cost than corn the Iowa and Indiana farmer feeds, we have the feed that will produce the best pork in the world.

The Farmer's Opportunity.

The greatest single industry in Kentucky is its distilleries. This industry pays more taxes for the maintenance of the State than all other manufacturing industries combined. Thousands of tons of slops containing nutritious, fat-producing elements are dumped into the waste heap simply because Kentucky feeders have not waked up to their opportunity. A comparatively small portion of this by-product is dried and shipped to Europe to be used as dairy feed and for fattening hogs.

But why ship any of those dried grains to Denmark and Holland when we can use them here at home up to the full capacity of every distillery in the State, thereby increasing the profits of hog-raising and adding many millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the farmers of the state.

Cheaper Feed Than Corn.

Farmers should sell the corn they raise at the high price it usually brings, and buy, for less money, more and better feed in the form of distillers' dried grains. By doing this they can fatten more hogs at less cost and sell them in the market for larger profits. It is a simple business proposition that should not be overlooked by the farmer.

hogs. Special tank cars were also provided for the transportation of both the slops and dried grains.

Makes Prize Winners.

At a great barbecue on the Owensboro Fair Grounds last May, attended by 20,000 farmers and feeders, there were on exhibition scores of fine hogs fattened on distillers' dried grains and slops, and many cash prizes were awarded. Officials from the agricultural department of the State and Federal Government were present and made addresses on the proper care and feeding of hogs and the prevention of cholera. Specimens of distillers' dried grains and slops from various distilleries were also on exhibition and their respective food value were explained by experts.

Fattens Quickly.

One of the greatest advantages in feeding distillers' dried grain is the fact that nothing is lost. The distillers remove only the non-fattening portions of the grain, leaving an average of 40 per cent of protein, which is the element required to fatten stock. It has been supplied by many people that the best way to fatten a hog is to feed hard corn. But corn in the natural state yields about 13 per cent of protein, as much of it passes through the animal undigested. Distillers' dried grains therefore possess about three times the fattening properties of natural corn. By feeding these dried grains with alfalfa, clover or other green stuffs, hogs fatten quicker and better than by the use of corn alone and at very much less cost.
